

KEVIN - MEDIA REVIEWS

"A mind-roasting bipolar joy-ride... reams of rich, poetic language from a man who's in love with words... a super-energetic, uber-likeable, highly gifted writer/performer... Kevin is presented wacky warts and all. We laugh at his quixotic delusions and misadventures. Yet Gee is careful to present Kevin in a respectful, empathetic manner... a moving, funny, deeply human show not to be missed."

Victoria Times ★★★★★

"Delightful... finds humor and heart among the humanity... the real appeal lies in how every character - even six-year-old Millie, let down by life but still putting on her party dress and heading to the school dance - lives on hopes and dreams. That's the real human spirit, Gee seems to say, and it's not contingent on how many pills you take."

Orlando Sentinel

"Hilarious... an uproarious journey."

London Pub Theatres ★★★★★

"Brilliantly portrayed delusions of grandeur... anybody with experience in the mental health system will be able to relate to this... Kevin is larger than life, brilliantly portrayed and a great experience. Highly recommended."

The Clothesline, Adelaide ★★★★★

"Moving, funny and engrossing... heartfelt and laugh out loud funny... it would be easy enough to play Kevin for laughs, and there are plenty, but there's a deeper point to be made about the desperate tragedy of mental illness, and how we treat those who suffer from it."

CBC, Canada ★★★★★

"Comedy gold... Rob Gee rocks it with this performance."

Inc 19, Orlando

"Just the right amount of gravitas, skepticism, gusto and wit... it's a crime to reveal any more of Gee's intricate plot and complex characters. Let's just say: the state of your mental health doesn't necessarily determine your ability to be a good person."

Edmonton Journal, Alberta ★★★★★

"Superbly crafted... Gee's insight into the world of mental health is profound and his bevy of likeable characters gives the audience a window into what life in a ward is like."

Adelaide Advertiser

"A barmy tale... Gee does a wonderful job."

Gig City, Alberta ★★★★★

"Obsessively-compulsively watchable... crammed with Gee's trademark mixture of killer wit and medical commentary."

Orlando Weekly

"Few people can tell a shaggy dog story with as much comic detail, energy and pizzazz as this talented Brit... you're definitely in (Kevin's) corner, no matter what happens."

Calgary Herald

"Hilarious... what is so endearing is his unique ability to handle the subject with humour and tenderness."

The Jenny Revue, Winnipeg

"With extraordinary physicality and a firm grip on the non-stop torrent of words, not to mention effortlessly slipping into every other character, Gee, a former psychiatric nurse, offers a stunningly funny and entirely compassionate glimpse into a life lived with bipolar disorder. As Kevin pinballs his way from one near-disaster to another, it's impossible to be anything but charmed, because if there's one essential truth about Kevin, it's that his heart is firmly in the right place... and Gee's masterful, hyper-energetic portrayal ensures that the audience shares his empathy."

Hereford Times

"A quite marvellous adventure... Kevin, King of Egypt is essentially a fairy tale... a story littered with the grit of harsh reality, but sprinkled with stardust."

The Swindoneon, UK

"Hilarious... a captivating show, bound to simultaneously break hearts and lift spirits."
